The Honorable William W. Hood, III
2015 Judicial Performance Interim Report
Supreme Court

May 29, 2015

The Honorable William W. Hood, III
Colorado Supreme Court
2 East 14th Avenue
Denver, CO 80203

Dear Justice Hood, III:

I am pleased to make available to you the attached copy of your 2015 Judicial Performance Interim Survey Report. This report is based on a survey of attorneys who have had cases heard before a Supreme Court panel of which you authored an opinion, concurrence, or dissent.

In addition to this introduction, the report is divided into four main sections:

1. A brief summary of the results of the attorney survey.
2. The numerical results of the survey of attorneys in both tabular and graphical form. In addition to the numerical results, this section also contains comments attorneys made about your judicial performance. In some instances the comments have been redacted to eliminate respondent identifying information.
3. The third section of the report discusses the methodology of the surveys.
4. The final section provides a copy of the attorney questionnaire.

If you have any questions about the methodology and how the survey was conducted, please feel free to contact me at 505-821-5454 or by email at sanderoff@rpinc.com (please put the words "Judicial Performance" in the subject line), and for any other questions you might have about the survey please call the Executive Director of the Office of Judicial Performance Evaluation, Kent Wagner, at 303-928-7779.

Best regards,

President

Summary of Results

Respondents rated justices on various questions using an A to F scale, in which the grades were then converted to numerical scores: A= 4, B=3, C=2, D=1 and F=0. An average score of 4.0 is the highest possible score and a 0.0 is the lowest possible score. Attorneys assigned Justice William W. Hood, III an overall average grade of 3.80.

Methodology

Methodolgy

The results shown in the 2015 Judicial Performance Interim Survey Report are based on the survey of Attorneys Regarding Appellate Judges. Below is a description of the methodologies used for this survey.

Attorneys Regarding Supreme Court Justices

a. Sample:

The Attorneys Regarding Supreme Court Justices sample comes from a list of Supreme Court opinions provided by the Clerk of the Supreme Court. This list included the names of the attorneys associated with the cases and the names of the justices who authored opinions, concurrences or dissents for those cases.

Only judges and justices that are due to receive an interim evaluation in 2015 were evaluated during this reporting cycle. The intent was to increase the number of completed attorney evaluations for each judge and justice by excluding those not due to receive an interim evaluation in 2015. The number of possible judges and justices that attorney respondents could evaluate was 10.

Attorneys are first mailed a letter inviting them to complete the survey online. The letter provides the link to the online survey, as well as a unique password to access the survey. Approximately one week later, attorneys are sent an email invitation to complete the online survey, which also provides the Web address and their unique password. About a week after the first email is sent, a reminder email is sent, providing the same information. Potential respondents who do not complete the survey after the second email are then telephoned and asked to either complete the survey by phone, or to complete it online.

Since 2010, the Judicial Performance Survey reports are based on a moving average, or rolling sample, of data collected over a period of time equal to the justice's or judge's term of office: ten years for a Supreme Court justice and eight years for a COA judge. To use a Supreme Court justice as an example: as survey data is collected it is pooled together for ten years. After ten years, as new data is added to the justice's survey results, the oldest data in the pool will be deleted.

b. Questions:

Respondents evaluated justices on 17 aspects of judicial performance using a grade scale of A, B, C, D, or F. (See Questionnaire section.) These grades were then converted to a numerical score where A = 4, B = 3, C = 2, D = 1 and Fail = 0. The A through F scale was chosen because it is almost universally recognized and understood. This makes it easy for respondents to complete their questionnaire, and for the public to interpret the results.

Respondents were also asked to indicate how strongly they would recommend that the justice be retained or not retained in office.

c. Analysis:

The Attorneys Regarding Supreme Court Justices section first shows a table of the percentage distribution for each of the A through F questions, including “don’t know/not applicable” responses. The column to the far right shows the justice’s average grade for each question.

The overall question averages are calculated by adding up the averages for each question and dividing by the number of questions.

The next table shows the percentage distribution of the responses to the question about recommending retention.

The next page displays the question averages in horizontal bar-graph form. The percentage distribution to the retention question is then presented in the graph on the next page.

The last part of the Attorneys Regarding Supreme Court Justices section of the report lists the comments the attorneys made about the justice’s strengths and weaknesses.

d. Comments:

Respondents were also asked what they considered to be the justice’s strengths and weaknesses. By statute, these comments are confidential and only provided to the justice and the State Commission on Judicial Performance. They are not released to the public when the rest of the report is released. Before being given to the justice and the Commission, an attempt is made to redact all respondent identifying information from the comments.

The number to the left of each comment refers to the same attorney respondent in both the strengths section and the weaknesses section.

Most spelling and typographical errors have been corrected.

e. Cooperation Rate:

The overall cooperation rate for the Attorneys Regarding Supreme Court Justices Survey is calculated as the number of completed survey-evaluations divided by the number of possible evaluations, resulting in an overall cooperation rate of 43.1% for Justice Hood, III. Undeliverable surveys have been excluded from the cooperation rates.

Looking at only the 2014 results, the cooperation rate for Justice Hood, III is 43.1% (not shown below).

A table of Justice Hood, III's cooperation rate is shown below. This cooperation rate is based on data collected from 2014 through 2014.

	Requested Evaluations	No Response	Undeliv- erable/Not Applicable	Completed Evaluations	Cooperation Rate
